
NEW PLAYS IN
NEW YORK CITYMetropolitan Theaters Have Specially Unusually Attractive Offerings."OMAR, THE TENTMAKER"
Cyril Maude Registers En-phatic Hit and Will Remain Until Next May

New York, Jan. 31.—New offerings at the theatres are "Omar, the Tentmaker," at the Lyric; "Sad," a Hungarian opera at The Liberty, and "The Queen of the Movies," at The Globe. "Sad" is Henry W. Savage's newest comic opera production, and the finest thing of the kind ever turned out by this manager. The story is good enough, but the music alone makes the piece almost a complete success. Emerich Kalman, the composer, has furnished a score that is melodious and haunting. "The last number" is "Hazen," delightfully sung by Miss Hedges and Charles Moak. Miss Hedges and her beautiful voice share honors with the star. Mr. Savage has given the opera a magnificent production. It is a worthy successor to "The Merry Widow," which more can be said in its favor. In the title role Miss Hedges has surprised her admirers by the quality of her work.

"Omar, the Tentmaker" is a Persian play by Richard Wallace, dated on the life and times of Omar Khayyam, and is nominally the first production of the firm of Toles. The play has an appeal that will carry it to success. Guy Bates Post gives a capital impersonation of the title role, and is ably assisted by Lee Baker, Fred Eric, Jane Salisbury, Louis Granger, Margaret Vale and fifty others. The opening performance was received with enthusiasm, and numerous curtain calls for the start and his associates.

Cyril Maude has registered such an emphatic hit in "Grumpy" and is drawing such large audiences that the Lyric Company have arranged with manager Charles Burnham to continue his engagement at Wallace's theater until Saturday evening, May 2. Although Mr. Maude has the role of a senile old man tottering on the verge of the grave, his embodiment of the part is a treat. He is a sort of Sherlock Holmes who catches a diamond thief, straightens out the love affairs of four young women, and goes off to bed, grumbling, but happy. It is all realistic and skillful. Last week, Mr. Maude played to the largest receipts known at Wallace's since it was first opened to the public thirty-two years ago.

At the New Amsterdam Theater "The Little Cafe" is drawing the largest audiences, ever known at that house. At every performance the big auditorium is packed from the orchestra to the topmost seat in the gallery, and so many night people are turned away.

Mr. Douglas, who has been the house manager for Klaw & Erlanger ever since the theater was first opened, tells you truly that the receipts at the box office average $26,000 per week. K & E have every reason to shake hands with themselves.

With the combination of Maude Adams and J. M. Barrie in "The Legend of Leonora," Charles Frohman has put another success in his credit.

FEEDING THE HOMELESS

An actual scene in "When the Earth Trembled," story of the San Francisco earthquake shown at the Empress theater Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Adams makes Leonora one of the most beautiful of the little heroines that she has ever created. The play is whimsical and fantastic, and all through it four acts the little heroine shares the star. Mr. Winters Winter who is to blossom out as a star next season, under the management of Mr. Augustus Pilon, Jr., is a striking character well and favorably known all over the country. Just now she is filling engagements in leading vaudeville theaters where she is drawing down a very large salary. As a twinkle she will appear in first-class theaters only, presenting a comedy by Augustus Pilon, Sr., and the late Joseph Arthur Stanger. Pilon's star, "The Old Dublin," is proving to be one of the most popular singing Irish comedies in the country. Mr. O'Hara is of Irish descent, born in the shadow of Dunfermline. For two or three years he has been leading actor of the famous Holstonian, and won much success in the title role of "Robin Hood."

One of the most remarkable engagements ever known to New York is being played by Laurette Taylor, who has appeared in "The Girl of the Year" at the Cort Theater for nearly 500 times, and is still drawing capacity audiences.

"General John Regan" has closed his long run in New York and gone to Chicago for an indefinite engagement. The Lyric Company was unable to secure another theater here, hence the transfer. In spite of hard times, all the good attractions are playing to large audiences. Even the near-successes are doing well.

In the writing of comedy—of brilliant dialogue, of wit, of humor, of sparkling repartee, and "amusing" situation, of high comedy, in short, it is coming to be a lost art so far as the American aspirant to play-writing fame is concerned. Is it the "vogue of 'punch' play, with its blunt reason and startling climax, dulling the point of the pen of the writer who essays comedy?"

Wells Clark is responsible for this useful bit of philosophy: "It is not the writer who is to blame for the rising generation to rise in time to make the 5 o'clock jump."

Edith Levy's press agent again decries the actress is married to Florence Zerkow, but she is not. Her latest professional contract.

NO MORE ASTHMA
A CURE DISCOVERED THAT REALLY DOES CURE

The country is simply wild over the wonderful cures of chronic asthma that are being made every day by Catarrh-ozone. It is a scientific surprise, a perfect marvel that it is being all chronic back to health. You will say so yourself after you have used it once, say so after the very first time. Ever since people first began to have asthma, Catarrh-ozone is certainly the best remedy discovered.

Creighton E. Thompson, well known in Calgary, writes: "Nothing too strong can be said for Catarrh-ozone. I suffered four years from asthma in a way that would baffle description. I went through everything that man could suffer. I was told of Catarrh-ozone by a clerk in Fidelity's drug store and purchased a three-packet package. It was worth hundreds to me in a week, and I place a priceless value on the benefit have since derived. I would urge every sufferer to use Catarrh-ozone for Asthma, Bronchitis and Cough."

The one-dollar package last two months; small size, 50c; sample size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrh-ozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

SUGGESTS MINIMUM
WAGE FOR WORKERS
IN THIS PROVINCE

Workers in Alberta Are in a Good Position to Demand Such Legislation.

MEMBERS OF GOVERNMENT ACCORD WITH MOVEMENT Would Benefit Women and Girl Workers as Unions Have Men

The B. C. Federationist in an Editorial says:

The local enforcement of an arbitrary minimum wage for workers in the province of Alberta is beginning to exercise the minds of leaders of thought in the ranks of organized labor in that province. Whether or not such an enactment will have beneficial effects upon the workers is a matter which might help some classes of workers while working to the detriment of others, on what principle such laws should be framed, and whether or not such a law should be first made to apply to the great body of women and girl workers who have lately made their appearance in the industrial centers of what has heretofore been considered a frontier province, are among the first considerations in approaching the question of a minimum wage law for the province.

In British Columbia it would appear that the first consideration to be faced is political in nature. That is, whether after mature deliberation and decision it would be possible for the labor men to prevail upon British Columbia government and legislature to grant them such a measure.

Judging by past actions on the part of what has come to be regarded by the workers as the most reactionary government in Canada, it is not in the whole English-speaking civilization, it would be impossible to obtain such a law in British Columbia so long as the Bowser-McBride government stands. But the workers in other provinces, and particularly in Alberta, are in a better position to command consideration, and it is altogether likely that if organized labor presents a demand for a minimum wage law in that province it will be cheerfully granted them. So in Alberta the labor men can proceed to consider the details of a measure that in British Columbia would be a waste of time. With this view in mind, the departmental stores in the larger cities a large number of women and girl workers have made their appearance, and though this has taken place within the last five years, already and for the past three years at least, the hostile social diseases bred by extreme exploitation and menage wages have caused their revolt, and they are now in a position to demand a minimum wage law.

In the legislature and government and in the public life of the province of Alberta there are many men, who while unconnected with the organized labor movement, are nevertheless at one with its leading to remedy such conditions as far as it is possible to do so.

Workmen Consulted. The active labor men in Alberta, so far from being designated a criminal and an enemy to society, is actually considered and consulted in the framing of legislation bearing upon the conditions of the wage-earners. But just now to frame legislation and provide for its administration so as to provide the maximum of protection for the unprotected women and girl workers without endangering either of them or the organized workers, is in itself a very knotty problem. In this connection a bill introduced into the Illinois State Legislature in March, 1913, by Representative O'Rourke, is noteworthy because of the manner in which it is proposed to frame and enforce such measures in that state. The bill first of all provides for a state commission of labor headed by a state official chosen at the commissioner of labor and two other commissioners, both appointed by the governor, one to be an employer of women and the other to be a woman. This commission has discretionary power to investigate wage conditions for women and minors at any time and in any part of the state; it can subpoena witnesses and examine the wage rolls of employers, who are bound under penalties to furnish correct information. After the board has determined, by inquiry into the cost of living, what the minimum wage shall be placed at, the employer must matter if the employees agree to lines on which this bill is drafted would seem worthy of being followed, because the application of the act could be so widened to include male workers and artisans providing it was approved by the legislature. The wage-condition of the women and minors. Whether the act could be made the means of gradually lifting the wages for all workers, so that in time a comfortable wage could be assured all willing workers, is a matter which specifically serves to abolish even a part of the wretched conditions at present existing, it will be well worthy of a fair trial.

JAMES O'NEILL

James O'Neill as Count of Monte Cristo, Monarch Theater for last times.

A dramatization of Jack London's story, "The Valley of the Moon," will be produced next season on a starting vehicle for Charlotte Walker, Mr. London will collaborate with Eugene Walter in preparing a stage version.

The first theater built in London was erected on the site of what is now Holywell Lane, Sherwood. The site of the building was between six hundred and seven hundred paces.

It was an English actor who said in an interview that he enjoyed his stage experience very much, but he added: "It does so cut into his evenings."

The library of the British museum contains upwards of six hundred thousand play bills, bound in three hundred and forty volumes.

If you are a girl, get married; if you are a man, take the same advice. The stage is for those who will sacrifice all for their art with never a thought of personal pleasure.

James K. Hackett will produce Brandon Tynan's "Melody of Youth" in New York this spring.

It is said Laurie Rivington is to devote herself to voice study in Europe preparatory to her debut in "grand opera."

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE. KEEPS THE SCALP
CLEAN AND STOPS THAT ITCHING

Itching scalp is merely a warning, for whenever there is dandruff and itching of the scalp, there is bound to be an ultimate loss of hair. Falling hair is never so light that it may be discarded. Every hair that falls is bringing you just so much nearer the inevitable end—baldness. To prevent the hair from coming out and to stop that itching one must first get rid of the dandruff. It is not enough to shampoo the head occasionally with any kind of soap and apply a remedy with indifference. Besides the positive, tangible results are obtained in this way. The care of the hair should be systematic and persistent—the application of Newbro's Herpicide regular and intelligent. In no other way can you hope to successfully combat dandruff contagion and acquire that snap, lustre and beauty of the hair, which are so much sought and admired. Besides the positive, tangible results experienced by the user of Herpicide there is a sense of cleanliness; a feeling of coolness that is very gratifying. The odor is exceedingly pleasing and as Herpicide contains no grease and does not stain or dye, it is a most desirable hair dressing. When troubled with dandruff and your hair growing thinner every day, it is no time to experiment with some off brand preparation or a remedy which you are told is "just as good" as Herpicide. What you want is results—results that are assured. Newbro's Herpicide is guaranteed to do as claimed or money refunded. Why take chances with the unknown article? Sold everywhere in 50-cent and $1.00 quantities.

Applications at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors. Send ten cents in postage or silver to the Herpicide Company, Dept. S, Detroit, Mich. for sample bottle and booklet of the care of the hair. Geo. H. Graydon and E. M. Carpenter, special agents.

IN connection with the House of Commons, we have received a request for information as to what our Governor-General does. The Governor-General is appointed by the Crown (generally for a period of five years), though his salary—$50,000 a year—is paid from the Dominion treasury. He is the commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the Dominion; and has the power, in the King's name, to commute the sentence of a court of justice; to summon, open, prorogue, and dissolve the Dominion Parliament; to give or withhold assent to bills; to exercise the Royal prerogative, all bills which have passed both Houses; and, with the advice of his Ministry, to appoint the Lieutenant-Governors of the various Provinces, the Senators, the judges, and other officers under Government.

Held Them to a Tie, But Were Beaten in the Overtime 6 to 3.

Regina, Jan. 31.—The Moose Jaw Roblin Hawks upset all calculations here last night when they outplayed the league-leading Victorias for the greater part of the allotted 60 minutes of play. With but two minutes to go and the score 5 to 2 against his team, Crawford, co-captain for Victoria, hit a beautiful goal from about 20 feet in front of the net. The score remained a tie at full time, and necessitated two five-minute ends being played. In these two sessions the Victorias became tired, and the head men scored three goals, one in the first and two in the second. The final score was: Victorias 6, Roblin Hawks 3.

Flahenden and Harry Macdonald starred for the visitors, while Molinsky and Abbott did the best work for the home team.

FREDDIE WELSH TALKS INTERESTINGLY ON MAKING WEIGHT BEFORE A FIGHT

Had Hard Sledding Before Climbing to Top of Ladder—Promoters all Over the Country Were Not Always After Him.

According to Freddie Welsh, light-heavy weight, this hurts them a great deal. It weakens them and breaks down their sinews and nerve tissue. But after they weigh in. Ah, after they make that hard weight and are free how they do go to the rats. They like themselves to the nearest restaurant and order a large section of cow and several gallons of water. This is how they do it.

"If the weight is so hard for a boxer to make that it drags down his physical being and saps his strength, same boxer is a fool for signing up for a bout at such a weight, and he deserves any trouncing which he gets," says Welsh.

"When I'm in the ring, fighting, much prefer having muscle with me, but my bone and muscle than to be carrying undigested food in my stomach. And if you get a punch in the stomach it's a heap easier to stand it when you're loaded on 'strength-giving' food."

"As a rule, most boxers of today, when they're up against a tough weight proposition, when they sign to weight in at a figure which is very hard for them to make—starve themselves out days before the fight. They demand that the weighing-in hour should be so fixed as to fall several hours before time for them to scrap. The day before the fight and all the day of the mill up to the time of weighing these boxers dry out, that is, they drink no water. Of course, if they are trying to make an exceptionally

The admission is 50 cents.

CALGARY VICS LOOK

In the Calgary hockey league the Victorias trimmed the Chinooks 6 to 3, and the 103 regiment beat the Central 3 to 2. The Victorias have the championship of the Calgary group clinched. In the intermediate division Calgary boasts a team with five straight victories and are out after the provincial title.

St. Michaels Beats Kingston
Jan. 31.—Only the wonderful of Cooke in goal for the Kingston Frontenacs prevented St. Michaels from making their score into double figures last night at the arena in their O. H. A. senior fixture. The final was 8 to 2.

Melville Beats Rouleau

Moose Jaw, Jan. 31.—In a fast game of hockey at Melville last night Rouleau was defeated by the Melville combination by the score of 6 to 2. At half time the home team was leading by 2 to 1.

Willie Ritchie, the present light-weight champion, has not had time to make much money as yet, but at that Willie is worth close to $30,000, and unless all indications fail, he will some day rank among the wealthiest of boxers.

I'm not on the ropes in a bad fix or knocked out, either."
Although Freddie Welsh must be worth approximately $100,000 at the present time, the British champion found it awfully hard sledding when he first entered the pugilistic game.

Welsh tells of his start in the pugilistic game. Promoters all over the country were not always after the Englishman's services, which made it very difficult for him to secure bouts in his early days.

Freddie's first encounter for cash was in New York. Having been a physical director at several gyms he knew the rudiments of boxing. But at this particular time Freddie was down and out—so down, in fact, that he had been hitting the free lunch regularly.

He happened one day in a saloon where the lunch was above the average and as he was eating his way to satisfaction the owner, observing his hunger, agreed to put him on that night at a little private club over the saloon.

He won that fight over the K. O. route and received the handsome sum of $2 for his victory. After this battle he fought around at different clubs in New York, receiving from $5 to $25. Taking advice from a friend, the Irishman later on took a trip to Philadelphia and from then on things came his way.

Freddie is a great admirer of Elbert Hubbard, and wherever you see Welsh you see a copy of the Prin or the Philistine. When Welsh does road work he usually takes the trusty Prin along to relieve the monotony, and carries it to bed with him for a sleep-producer at night. According to Welsh, that magazine is very versatile.

VARSITY QUALIFY TO MEET PENNANTS IN 2 MORE GAMES FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Beat Strathcona Last Night 8 to 5.—Half Time Score 5 All-Parsons Badly Hurt—Now Tie with Pennants.

Outclassed, during the first thirty minutes of play, but coming back strong in the second half, Varsity seniors last night defeated the Strathconas by an 8 to 5 score. For a time it looked as if the south-siders were out to duplicate their performance of last Monday night, when they took the league leaders into camp. Varsity went to the front early in the game, and notched three goals before the Strathconas had a look-in. Sam Humston, the veteran goal-tender of the south side team, was conspicuous by his absence, and that accounted to a great extent for the early scores of their opponents. Jackson, who took his place, did not get settled down until the second half. The Strathconas played rings around their opponents, but could not connect with the net, until a little later on when they slipped in three and tied the score at half time.

In the second period, Varsity saw the necessity of getting down to business, and soon shot in the lead, and won never headed. The south side did catch up again when it was five all, but after that never had a chance. The game finished with the students three goals of the goal.

Dixon was the high scorer of the evening, being responsible for four of the five goals credited to the Strathconas. He was not watched closely enough and was allowed to get away. The south side boys really had the better of the play in the initial period, but fell down in their shooting department.

Not until the last few minutes of the second half, did the play go as fast as previous contests. Lavalle lacked his usual "zip," and Dixon was continually loafing. An unfortunate accident occurred to Parsons of the Strathconas, when Dietz lifted the puck for a goal shot. Parsons, not seeing the lift, skated right into the puck, hitting him in the eye. The smack was heard at the other end of the rink. He went to the ice in great pain and was carried to the dressing room. It is feared he may be seriously injured.

First Half.
It took Varsity just one minute to notch the first goal. Dietz did the trick on a pass from Parsons. Beecroft drew two minutes for chopping, and Lavalle went off for giving a heavy body-check to Beecroft. Both teams were playing hard for chopping, and Dean and Dietz played well at this stage and Chubb stopped several shots in an apparently cool manner.

Varsity's Third.
Beecroft ran in another on Jackson in 2:45. Sam Humston's absence was badly felt. The south-siders then woke up and started their fireworks. In two minutes they pulled a pretty two-man rush, pass and shot. Dixon made the shot and it was a nice piece of hockey. The same player added another two minutes more, when he and Jackson went off the ice together. It took longer for the next one, but the same player was responsible for the goal in 6:43.

Second Half.
Varsity started the second period with a bombardment on the south side goal, and Jackson was given plenty of work to do. Riley went off. Chubb got away with some lucky stops. From a scrimmage in front of the Strathconas goal, Beecroft scored again, by punting in the second half. Time 7:40. Parsons was hurt when Lavalle dumped him, and McDonald scored off to even up. Wilson scored an easy one for the students when the rubber was rolled out from the corner. Time 12:7. The Strathconas came back strong in the second half, but however in 7:30, on a two-man rush, "Nig" Jackson making the tally. It was a good run and hard shot to step. Game Lived up.

With but ten minutes to play, both teams hit a faster clip and especially the south side boys. Somebody poked Feurt in the "wind" and put him out for a minute. Dixon once more came to the rescue, when he went up the ice with two others and scored in one minute. Dietz got a pass from Beecroft and slipped her in a big delay followed. With but one minute to play, Dean repeated his performance just as the bell rang for time. Final score 8 to 5 for Varsity.

Still More Games.
It was a test and death with the students team. A loss would have put them out of the running, but the win gave them a chance to meet Pennants in two more games, and with Dean back in the game, they will make the victory a sure thing. Strathconas have played their last scheduled game. An intermediate practice followed the game.

Ledie Hockey Team
The Ledie Hockey team took the measure of the Government telephone sextette at the South side rink Thursday night to the tune of 6 to 3. The ice was good and the game fast in spots. Howard for the Dutchman was about the biggest noise on the ice, played his opponents and his own men off their feet at times, while Brown and Hawley did some good work for the hello boys.
